Emami Art presents 'Insights'

An online exhibition showcasing artworks of Bholanath Rudra and Suman Dey

Kolkata, Sep 09 (UNI) Emami Art, one of India's leading contemporary art galleries based in Kolkata, is hosting an online exhibition 'Insights' showcasing artworks of two exceptionally talented young contemporary artists, Bholanath Rudra and Suman Dey.

These artworks are reflections of the common reparative approach of the duo towards the pandemic and the wounded earth. The online exhibition can be viewed on Emami Art website. Bholanath Rudra's paintings in the exhibition offer to his viewer a wounded image of the earth in which modern civilizational aspirations are in conflict with nature.

The conflict, however, is not dramatically shown in his paintings, in which the vast desolate spaces, chromatic and beautiful, reveal the terrifying truth as a mixed sensual experience of both fear and fascination.

For him, the urbanization and industrialization, and now, the pandemic are connected not just to human history, but to the future and survival of the whole earth, a tiny planet in the infinite universe.

Suman Dey a self-taught artist works in a meditative way, distilling the visible form - be it a butterfly or an old handbag - to an abstract motif. His works at the exhibition reveal his intense contemplation and careful formal exercises.

Although he works in the non-representational language of abstract art, the link between the image and the world in his paintings has never been completely severed. What appears like foxing, the various, multiple stains and spots in the images which often destroy the neatness and purity of the abstract forms are the imprints of our deteriorated, impure time of toxic pollution. His abstract canvases show the contradiction between his quest for the pure form and his concerns about the crises of the world.

“The pandemic outbreak has presented us with a prodigious shift that’s staring us in the face, in all aspects of life and especially in the art world. As we continue to receive an overwhelming response for our online exhibitions, we, at Emami Art are delighted to present talented and intuitive artists and their inexhaustible artworks every month. This month, we are showcasing works of two such talented artist Bholanath Rudra and Suman Dey in an exhibition named ‘Insights’. The artworks featured in the online exhibition reveal the artists’ different styles and temperament, yet their common optimistic approach towards the earth healing through time.”, said Ms Richa Agarwal, CEO, Emami Art.

The online exhibition that started from 2nd September, 2020 will be available on the Emami Art’s website till 30th September, 2020.
